GULF COAST SHORT-CUT BIDS EXCEED FUND AT HAND FOR CONSTR'CTION

Louisiana Highway Commission to Seek New Proposal on Embankment Work By State Body—List and Figures of Bids Received.

The Louisiana Highway Commission received bids for the construction of approximately eight miles of embankment and five bridges on the proposed short cut highway to reduce the distance between New Orleans and the Gulf Coast by nearly 25 miles, but the total of the bids received was in excess of funds available for the projects, according to press advice from Baton Rouge.

The low bids received on the projects, exclusive of engineering, totaled $1,397,899.86, which is approximately $300,000 more than the amount which is available to the Highway Commission under the federal emergency reconstruction act under which the work is to be financed.

The Highway Commission is confronted with the choice of in some manner finding the additional funds or of changing the type of construction of the dredged embankment in order to reduce the cost to the amount of emergency funds available. Which of the plans will be followed cannot be determined at this time, but until a definite decision is reached no action will be taken on the bids received Tuesday.

New Proposals Sought

The commission, in the meantime, however, is advertising for new bids on the embankment projects on the alternate plans, which, it is believed by the commission engineers, will result in a substantial saving and may bring proposals coming within the money available. The new embankment bids are to be received December 20. The lone bid for the bridges was regarded as satisfactory.

The alternate plan for the embankment, it was explained by Harry B. Hendelitte, state highway engineer, which may be adopted, while not so satisfactory as the plan upon which bids have been received is still a standard form of construction of hydraulic embankment and will produce a satisfactory result which would be acceptable to the United States bureau of public roads engineers. The alternate type would be known as a "floating fill" and is the same as has been used between the Rigolets bridge and Salt Bayou, it was explained. It has the disadvantage of requiring a longer time to reach its final stability.

$1,000,000 Yearly Saving Seen

In constructing the type of embankment on which bids were received Tuesday the muck in the marsh would be built on more or less solid foundation, permitting the embankment to reach its final stability within a comparatively short time after the work is completed and would permit of concrete surfacing much earlier than on the floating fill.

The embankment and five bridges would connect Rigolets bridge with the west bank of the Pearl river opposite Pearlington. The bridge over Pearl river is to be built jointly by the states of Louisiana and of Mississippi with federal aid.

Commission Gets Bids

Bids received were as follows: Embankment between Rigolets and Salt Bayou, 2.671 miles—McWilliams Dredging Company, New Orleans, $96,810.

Embankment between Salt Bayou and Caruther's Landing, 2.2026 miles Jahneke Service, Inc., New Orleans, $286,297.50; McWilliams Dredging Company $306,811.48. Two other bids, each in amount greater than that for the low bidder, were declared irregular, because of the insufficiency of the certified check.

Embankment between Caruther's Landing and East Pearl river, 3.268 miles—McWilliams Dredging Company, $610,140.28; Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Company, New York, N. Y., $671,847.25.

Bridges over Salt Bayou, West Middle river, Middle river, East Middle river and West Pearl river—W. Horace Williams Company, Inc., New Orleans, $404,652.08; Austin Bridge Company, Dallas, Tex., $443,141.53; Forcum-James Company, Dyersburg, Tenn., $476,760.88; Doullut and Erwin, Inc., New Orleans, $533,114.66.

MAYOR-ELECT AND COMMISSIONER-ELECT REPLY TO CITY BOARD

Bay St. Louis, Miss.
November 29, 1932.
Hon. Chas. Traub, Sr., Mayor,
Hon. F. H. Egloff,
Hon. Sylvan J. Lagner,
Commissioners, City.
Gentlemen:

Recently your body proposed an amendment to the charter of the City of Bay St. Louis, permitting the property owners of Bay St. Louis to pay their taxes in three installments, and second to permit you to borrow money.

We thought this a little strange that your Honorable Body should attempt to change the charter of the City of Bay St. Louis in the face of the result of the recent election. We assumed that if you would attempt any change in the organic law of the City that the proper thing to do was for your body to discuss with the Commission Council elected and your body and the newly elected commissioners to agree on something especially in view of the fact that what ever change made in the organic law would be binding on the new administration, and especially since your gentlemen had been in office for five years and had not thought of such a change.

Recently when a discussion came up on the debt due this nation by the nations of Europe, President Hoover, even though it was a problem that confronted his administration, and had to be decided by his administration, refused to act upon the matter in view of the results of the election of November and advised the President-elect that he would appreciate his discussion of the matter with him, before action should be taken by Hoover. We feel that you should have taken that course before attempting to make these changes.

In the last issue of the Echo we notice, that you have called upon those signing the petition against the proposed amendment; and among other things you stated that the amendment would not be adopted until you got out of office. We assume that you mean what you stated in that article, and assuming that you do; we will suggest that if you will write to the Governor and to the Attorney-General of the State, asking these two gentlemen not to pass on these amendments until after January 1933; that we on our part will pledge ourselves that we will do all in our power to have those signing petitions to withdraw their names.

We are speaking for ourselves and believe that Mr. Perkins, on his return will join us in an attempt to have the petitions withdrawn. For your benefit we approve of the divided payments of taxes, and we pledge ourselves, to amend the Charter to this extent, but we cannot approve of any plan, that might permit one administration to issue loan warrants that might wreck the incoming administration. To permit this would really in our opinion be an attempt to over-throw the wishes of the people as recently expressed in our recent municipal election.

We shall hand a copy of this letter to the Echo for its publication in the next issue of that valued paper and in the meanwhile await your reply.

Yours very truly,
G. Y. BLAIZE, Mayor-Elect.
W. L. BOURGEOIS,
Commissioner-Elect.

Brilliant Poinsettia In Blossom at Loraine Flower Shop at the Pass

Blossoming Poinsettia speaks the traditional Christmas message. Loraine's Flower Shop and nurseries at Pass Christian show the glory of the poinsettia in all its holiday glory and no where do we find such collection and selection of sizes and moderate prices than at the Loraine Shop.

W. P. Adams makes a specialty of the Christmas plant with its radiant blossom every year. This year he has succeeded more than ever and the buyer will find much to please. Just now for the sick room nothing is more pleasing than a gift of such plant. For a birthday or other day of felicitation and happiness. And it might be well to select and to purchase now for Christmas so fast approaching.

Uncle Charlie's Night Club Scores Heavily With Larger Attendance

Uncle Charlie's Night Club was the scene of another interesting and successful night Saturday, many out-of-town guests notably in the vast number presented. It was noticed that Pass Christian and Gulfport were numerous represented.

The famous Uncle Charlie Night Club Orchestra was fully up to its standard of excellence of usual "pep" and the dancers held sway till the morning hours.

Two floor shows with Joseph Gilbert singing latest songs and serving as master of ceremonies and Mrs. Ludwick singing the "blues," featuring "River, Stay Away From My Door" were numbers of outstanding entertainment. There were many tables with larger parties than usual, and as a whole, celebrating Thanksgiving week was one of the best since the summer and went "over big."

Uncle Charlie's Night Club is growing in popularity each week and this patronage is noted more so since it represents people from the best people of this section.

SPORTS AT STANISLAUS

BILOXI BOWS TO STANISLAUS
SCORE 12-6.

THE Stanislaus Juniors brought in another victory Sunday when they took the long end of the score from Sacred Heart, Biloxi 12-6.

The first half was nip and tuck affair with Biloxi having the better of the argument. Second half was hardly under way when Bourgcois recovered a fumble on the Biloxi five yard line. One offside penalty helped along and Giannelloni bucked the ball over for the first marker.

On the kickoff Bourgcois recovered the ball behind Biloxi's goal for the second touchdown which was really the margin of victory.

The rest of the third quarter was a repetition of the first neither team being able to gain any decided advantage and each team looking for a break. Stanislaus was forced back deep into its own territory and as the fourth quarter began the ball was on the Stanislaus ten yard line. Carly's punt was blocked which Biloxi recovered on the Stanislaus 8 yard line. Creel on two line bucks took the ball over for the marker. Creel's attempt over center for the extra point failed.

Joachim, Peresich, Creel and Savarrio played best for Biloxi, while Carly, Giannelloni, Messa and Bourgcois stood out for Stanislaus.

The lineups were: Stanislaus, (12)—Bourgcois LE; Monti LT; Hammer LG; McGrath C; Perre RG; Lamouranne RT; Messa RE; Henry QB; Derbes LB; Giannelloni RH; Carly (c) FB.

Biloxi (6)—Boudreaux LE; Gilbert LT; Morrison LG; Ebberman C; Joachim RG; Pisarich RT; Diaz RE; Peresich QB; Sablich LB; Schrelles RH; Creel FB.

It was decided that the teachers would make an effort to get in acreages of each of these crops in the various communities. Mr. D. L. Williams, District Supervisor for the Southern half of Mississippi gave an interesting discussion on farm organization and standardization of instruction in the three counties represented. He especially stressed the importance of the farmers being interested along the lines of a safe economic plan of farm set up.

Governor Hunt Signs Order Making Arizona First State to go Wet

An Associated Press from Phoenix gives the information that after eighteen years on the dry roster, Arizona Monday officially joined the liberal States when its prohibition laws were abolished.

Propped up in his sick bed at a hospital, Governor G. W. P. Hunt signed a proclamation which killed the state's constitutional prohibition amendment and all dry laws passed by the legislature. It was in response to the majority repeal vote at the November 8 election.

The governor indicated that persons now serving sentences for violating the state dry laws will not be pardoned.

DIST-GOV. LORCH IS BAY VISITOR

Director of Rotary 17th District Pays Official Visit To Bay St. Louis Club

Stressing that fellowship is one of the essential elements to balance our lives during the economic stress of today, District-Gov. Adam Lorch, 17th District, Rotary International, was the guest and speaker before the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club at Hotel Weston Wednesday afternoon.

He asserted that man and the world were out of balance and that there were many compensating influences and elements that would help swing the pendulum the other way. We had gone awry with the material things of the world, he said; we were big men of the business and financial world, nothing else seemed to matter. Power was sought and with its ally, money, the temptation was irresistible to get more and to live more. But were we happy, he asked. Not a bit of it. We were too absorbed in the material. We now feel the lack of fellowship and Rotary was indeed largely a compensating factor in our lives today. Mr. Lorch's talk was of a fine type and fitting. His conclusions were logical and now and then there was philosophy and humor as well.

Claiming Bay St. Louis his second home, Dist-Gov. Lorch was given a warm ovation and most cordial welcome.

MANY BEGGARS AND TRAMPS IN CITY IS TRYING SITUATION

Mayor-Elect G. Y. Blaize Will Make Extra Effort To Clear City of Tramp Nuisance

Mayor-elect G. Y. Blaize promises to rid the city of tramps and beggars from outside as early as possible after the new administration is inducted into office.

He says the job is a big one but that it will be accomplished. "We have too many of our people who are in dire need of assistance and who have meagre or no means, in some instances, to buy sustenance for the family. Our own are dependents and, should receive every assistance possible. If we are going to have our people forced to feed the hundreds of tramps and others who infest our city and suburbs that will be that much less for our own people."

"I have no objection to feed the traveling element of unfortunate, but the bulk of these are traveling through a sense of wishing to see the world, and at the expense of others. Many are in dire circumstances through their own fault. Then why should we be burdened with the big job of feeding the outside world passing through when our own charitable organizations could receive more assistance. Charity should really begin at home and in this instance stay home."

"I offer no criticism of any one. I am satisfied the present forces are doing their best and meet with much resistance. But I am determined to press this subject to such a point that no beggars or tramps shall linger or appear on our city streets longer than necessary to force them to keep on going. These unfortunate people should stay at home; where they are known and may do better than in strange lands and in the midst of unknown people."

CATHOLIC WORKERS VISIT BAY

Rev. J. Rogers Lyons, S. J., assistant National organizer of Sodalties visited the Coast this week on his way to the Florida State Convention at Jacksonville.

Father Lyons spoke Tuesday afternoon at St. Joseph's Memorial Hall to the Sodalties of St. Joseph's and St. Stanislaus. He outlined briefly the two objectives of the Sodality—Personal Holiness and Active Catholicity. In speaking of the first objective he said how easy it was to become a saint by "doing the right thing, in the right place, at the right time."

In answer to Brother William's question, "what is Catholic Action?" Father paraphrased the definition of Catholic Action is the participation of the laity in the work of the Bishops and priest of the church.

In explanation of the above, Father showed how the Sodalties are especially called to fulfill the work outlined by our Holy Father. Every activity of the school, parish and home come under activities sponsored by Catholic Action.

At Gulfport Father Lyons talked to the St. John's Sodality, the Long Beach Sodality and a number of boys who are contemplating affiliating in the parish Sodality. Here Father outlined the work of Committees. He showed how active committees help to bring about a solid Sodality. He especially stressed the point that all meetings should be planned ahead of time.

We were very appreciative of Father Lyons' visit. We hope he will come again, in fact, we would like him to make it an annual affair.—St. Stanislaus Rockchaw.

Richard Dix Plays An Appealing Convict In RKO Radio Film

"Hell's Highway," is the title of an epic of the sorrows and laughter of road camp convicts, coming next Thursday and Friday to the A. & G. Theater, with Richard Dix heading an unusually powerful RKO-Radio cast.

As the tough, large-hearted, realistic convict, Duke Ellis, Dix is said to strike a tremendously appealing note.

While the picture is powerfully dramatic and not a preachment, the prison conditions it reveals, according to advance reports, are calculated to stir humane people to deep consideration of prison mismanagement.

While much pitiful human misery is depicted in "Hell's Highway," one hears that two themes of great tenderness run like threads of beauty through the story. One deals with the love of Duke Ellis for his brother, Johnnie Ellis, for a girl.

BAY GIRL SCOUTS COLLECTING TOYS FOR XMAS SEASON

Don't forget that the Girl Scouts will start collecting old toys to be made over for the poor children's Xmas, next week. Look around and see if you haven't an old kiddie car, velocipede, toy auto or doll that your children have outgrown. If you have just tell any girl scout and she will gladly call for it.

Improvement At A. & G. Theater Means More Comfort

In order to avoid the invasion of the cold from without the management of the A. & G. Theater has built a frame wall that will shut in the auditorium away from the front lobby that in order whenever the main door is opened draft of air will be kept out.

This is in line with the policy of the management of this theater—always catering to the comfort and satisfaction of the public. This will prove a marked improvement and will be welcomed by the public.

REFORESTATION.

LOUISIANA has been somewhat a pioneer in reforestation. Years ago work was started by the Great Southern Lumber Company in the vicinity of Bogalusa and the Hardtner interests in north Louisiana for the reproduction of denuded pine lands and much progress has been made in that direction, says the New Orleans States in a well-timed editorial, and continues:

In connection with that work is the report that a Norwegian has discovered a means of making reforestation activity comparatively cheap and more successful. It is attracting attention in Texas, which is anxious to increase the home supplies of timber.

According to the Houston Post, the Norwegian's plan involves the use of small bricks of soil, about the size of ice cubes. They are made in a machine at the rate of 2000-an-hour at comparatively little cost. These bricks are dipped by the machine in paraffin so that five sides are covered. On the upper sixth side two or three seeds are placed and covered with a thin layer of soil. The briquets are then placed in frames and are easily transported and without any special care.

If the ground is not frozen, and it isn't often in Louisiana, the cubes may be set out at any season of the year. Experiments have shown that a crew of three men can plant more than 1000 briquets each a day. In specially tilled ground as many as 2000 can be planted in an eight-hour day.

It is claimed by those who have investigated the Norwegian's process that its efficiency is greater than any heretofore tried and that its chief merit is that it does away with nurseries.

PLEASURE SWEETENS LIFE.

PERSONAL criticism of people who seek amusement have been heard in instances more than once. In fact it is quite common to comment on the fact that certain people are getting a little amusement out of every day life, and, as is so often magnified, "especially in these times of depression."

This disposition to criticize others has ever existed. It obtains in every community. The carping critic has ever been in our midst and will continue. There are many things that seem inevitable; that seem irremedial and hopeless so why discourse on this subject?

But the fact remains a healthy body and mind is a normal being and as such there must be distraction, recreation and even pleasure, regardless at how low an ebb one's morale might be over conditions and individual dejection. Worry accomplishes nothing. It is well to concern one's self over the daily and general vicissitudes of life, but to shut out the sunlight that a little pleasure now and then might give is faulty in the extreme. Self-denial, and the forfeiture of many things that appeal to one is, by necessity, practiced by all, but a little amusement is necessary. Aside from the practice of the many virtues that give satisfaction a little diversion is indeed nectar. Life is too drab without a little sweetness. Providing, however, it is not at the expense of someone else.

COUNTY AGENTS VALUABLE.

NINETEEN counties in North Dakota recently voted on a proposal affecting the retention of county agents. In times such as these, the expenditure of any definite sum of money is a matter apt to receive close scrutiny by the voter and more apt to be turned down than authorized.

In ten of the counties, the voters, by a comfortable margin, retained their county agents. In five of the other nine, where the agents were voted out, the vote was very close and in only three was the defeat emphatic. In fact, in most of the counties which voted against the county agents, the closeness of the balloting indicates that under normal conditions they will be restored.

The work of the county agents in the agricultural communities of the nation have been of inestimable value. Few counties can afford to be without the leadership of such training workers because of the dependence of business generally upon farm prosperity. Certainly, this depression has restored agriculture to its rightful place in the minds of the American people. It is now recognized as the bedrock of national, as well as rural prosperity.

Without capable and trained leadership, agriculture anywhere is certain to face hardships and difficulties that will retard its progress and make extremely difficult its advance.

Andover, N. Y., owning its own electric plant, made so much money this year that it is giving free electricity to all customers in December.

The real cause of the world's plight, if you want to know, was lack of character on the part of leaders in business, finance and industry.

Some people, having attended church on Thanksgiving Day, will be sure that they have paid their debt of gratitude to the Creator.

Taxes should come down during the present depression but, when better times come, they should go up again.

CONGRESS TO MEET MONDAY.

ALL eyes of the nation will be turned to Washington Monday of next week. Here will congress assemble, a lame duck session, but there is much speculation what that body will do about beer, wine and prohibition and a conclusion that the return of beer will be instant, so to speak. We are told by press dispatches that a vote on the resolution to repeal will be taken on the first day; other reports are to the effect a like move will be taken to vote such law regarding the content of such beverages that Congress has the power to enact without the necessary measure for repeal of the Volstead law. Congress has the power to do much to relieve the burden and stifling influence prohibition has had on business. It may do much in this direction. On the other hand little or nothing might be accomplished; for it is well known and expected that the dries will attack every vulnerable spot.

Whatever may be accomplished will have a moral effect, one way or another. But in bone dry Mississippi no beer nor wine with prohibitive content will be sold. We will have to look to the States that have no prohibition legislation, like Louisiana for instance.

But it is safe to say, as an individual opinion Congress will enact remedial measures taking the sting and loss out of prohibition and is hoping that in time enough of the States, through their legislative sessions during 1933, will vote to allow the Constitution amendment to be repealed. The Presidential election indicated the disposition of the public overwhelmingly.

If the majority must rule and if their vote implies anything then surely the Eighteenth amendment is out of date and its relegation is demanded.

Repeal would be well justified if we are to consider the prevailing utter disregard of the constitutional amendment, the success of bandit and organized bootlegging that has given birth to the racketeering game.

HANCOCK COUNTY COURTHOUSE.

FINISHING touches are in process regarding the work of renovating the Hancock County Courthouse and soon the network of exterior scaffolding will be removed revealing the work of repair and new surface of coloring.

The interior has undergone thorough renovation. Where ghastly white walls served downstairs tints and shades of French gray and buff combine in restful surfaces and pleasing prospect to the eye. It is quite an improvement and has made for the courthouse an entirely new and modern interior and exterior as well.

Another, and marked improvement, is the painting of the cupola transformed from drab color of deep brown into aluminum paint surface. The former killed all the grace and beauty that now anew tops the structure. There was never an excuse for the former.

The entire building has been repaired and repainted and to say nothing of the enhanced appearance, the value of the wisdom of the Board of Supervisors making this wise expenditure, is found in the fact that not only is the building beautified but that it is preserved for many years.

It will be remembered that Hancock county has one of the handsome courthouses in the eighty-two counties of Mississippi. Brick and concrete, tile floors and marble waincoting, and at an original cost of $25,000.00. The wonder is how could it have been at such comparative low figures, even at the time it was constructed.

We take great pride in our courthouse and particularly the grounds kept in constant beautification. The premises as a whole is something we point to with satisfaction and pardonable pride.

WOMEN'S BENEFIT ASSOCIATION.

RECENTLY a representative of this newspaper had the pleasure and occasion of attending a review and coronation program put on at Biloxi by different units of an organization of national character and scope and locally known as the Bay Women's Benefit Association.

State and District dignitaries of the association were present and from each section of the Coast officers and members of the respective units were in attendance. The evening's program followed a day's business transaction and formal luncheon. At night the auditorium of the Biloxi Elks building served as the scene for a review and coronation. The entertainment was one of the most interesting character. One present could not realize how worthy is this organization of young women. There was every indication of the spirit of co-operation and the morale so necessary to success both for the order and the individual member. Just another example of how much we get out of a club, order or association is exactly the same amount we put into it.

In Bay St. Louis the W. B. A. stands ace high. It is one of the more active organizations and is thriving under effective and distinctive leadership. With a sum of money serving as a nest egg, the intention is to build a home at an early day, Mrs. John N. Stewart, public-spirited summer resident, donating one of the best sites for the purpose that could be found in the city.

The Echo fosters all organizations. We are of the opinion that properly organized men and women and with constructive objectives our city in turn cannot but feel the benefit of such influence and activity for general and for individual good as well.

SAUNTERINGS. From Where The West Begins.

"BETTER to do a good deed near at home than go far away to burn incense."

The above proverb was written by some clever Chinese philosopher many years ago. With slight variation this wise counsel can well be heeded by residents of Bay St. Louis and surrounding trade territory at this time.

Adapted to present day conditions this proverb may be interpreted thus: "BETTER TO TRADE NEAR AT HOME THAN GO FAR AWAY FROM BAY ST. LOUIS AND SPEND YOUR MONEY AMONG STRANGERS."

When your local merchants and firms are supported—the community—YOUR HOME—and ultimately, YOU, the spender, reaps the gain.

The far away or out-of-the-county merchant or firm's interest in Bay St. Louis and the Bay St. Louis purchaser ends when the hard-earned Bay St. Louis dollar reaches his cash register. After that you're just another one of those people who live somewhere over there along the Gulf Coast. Perhaps, just another 'sucker,' as a certain night club hostess would say.

This is not so of Bay St. Louis or Waveland merchant. He is your friend—truly a friend in time of need. There is no gamble when dealing with him. He has been tried and proven. You know the taxes he pays help support every public enterprise and welfare.

Your local merchant has much more at stake than the average citizen realizes. You cannot question his personal interest in the community. His investment represents his faith in the future of this territory. Collectively, he is your banker, lawyer, doctor, druggist, dentist, newspaper publisher, grocer, garage dealer, and many others engaged in some Bay St. Louis business or industry.

The untiring efforts of these men represent the backbone of every public spirited move whose high purpose is for the betterment of existing conditions in and around Bay St. Louis.

Get in step with your local merchants—support them—make your trade dollars join in the big parade behind Bay St. Louis merchants' progressive banner of: "SERVICE HONEST DEALING, AND LOCAL INTEREST—ALWAYS."

The Texas traveler motoring into Louisiana gets his first taste of the famous French-dripped coffee along about Lake Charles. He may be puzzled at first when the waitress asks in her charmingly characteristic French accented speech whether American style or French-dripped coffee is desired. The average Texan is not accustomed to drinking strong coffee. On many Texan tables milk is used in preference to coffee as a beverage. To a true Southerner a meal does not seem quite complete if not followed by a cup of coffee. Treise of Louisiana French-dripped coffee is sung to the four ends of the world or whenever epicureans chance to meet and exchange recipes and experiences.

Lake Charles marks the beginning of bayous, lily-covered lagoons, and giant oak trees, whose powerful branches are abundantly covered with draping masses of hoary moss. Typical plantation type darkies strum guitars or they loll before the door of their modest cabins. Others stroll along the roadside, fishing pole across shoulder, headed for the haunts of the big catfish. The ivory whiteness of their teeth against coal-black skin reflecting perfect happiness.

A fleeting panorama of the beautiful Teche country imparts to the tourist an impression of complete serenity. In the distance one may view a little church nestled against the bank of a languorous bayou. It is Sunday morning. Sweet melodies of mocking birds intermingle with the solemn tones of the chiming bell in the belfry, as the devout Franco-American parishioners paddle their way to mass in skiffs and pirogues. It is all so peaceful, fascinating, quaint and interesting to the observer. Like an existence from the turbulent world apart.

The Evangeline oak and grave made sacred by Longfellow is not far distant from Lafayette.

The intrusion of the weaker sex upon the attire and manners of the masculine sex has been popular with the human family for some time. Now a few fleet-footed 'fems' of the deer specie have taken up the fad by sporting a set of full grown antlers.

Antlers, it seems, were intended by nature for adornment of the buck deer alone.

This modernistic fad has gotten a few doe into serious trouble. Hunters mistaking doe with antlers for bucks have blazed away. The doe is protected by Texas game laws, but the game warden can only scratch his head when one of these freaks is brought down by mistake.

At least three full grown doe with perfect antlers have been brought to attention around San Antonio so far this season.

Back in the rip-roaring days when Judge Roy Bean represented the law west of the Pecos each man seemed to have individual ideas as to what constituted law and order. Personal grievances were largely settled with six-shooters. The man quickest on

One end of the rope placed about his neck, the other end fastened to the limb of the tree. Everything in readiness. The spirited animal would be slapped. The grim demands of western justice would then be settled.

'HERMIT OF CHALMETTE,' UNAWARE OF DEPRESSION, FOUND; RUDDY OLD BOY HAS BEEN LIVING ALONE MANY YEARS

New Orleans, Nov. 23.—"The Hermit of Chalmette," the plains where General Andrew Jackson whipped the British and saved New Orleans—a man who never heard of the depression.

An aged, stern looking, keen-eyed, but ruddy faced man known as the "Hermit of Chalmette" for a quarter of a century or more has been living a life of silence in an old dilapidated carriage house on the old Brau plantation where he went into seclusion because his sweetheart jilted him.

The man said his name was Bayhi, a member of an old Louisiana family, but he did not know how old he was. To his best reckoning, he said, he was 12 years old at the time he climbed the Mississippi river levee and watched the gunboats of Farragut cruise up the river.

That would make him 82 years old. He has left his tumble down shack only once in the past 20 years and that was when a neighbor took him to New Orleans for lodging at a home for the aged. He did not like it there, so Bayhi slipped away at lunch and walked the less than 10 miles back to his rustic abode.

He likes to talk about oil in St. Bernard parish. It was only when that subject was broached by Miss Carmen Colomb that he consented to converse with visitors yesterday.

Miss Colomb, interested in his welfare, leaves his plate of lunch each day on a table near his shack and there he invariably goes in solitude to feast.

He started rapidly away when some women visitors approached the house with Miss Colomb.

"Never liked women," grumbled the old man. "Don't like people anyhow."

But when she mentioned oil drilling in St. Bernard parish Bayhi became interested. "Always knew there was oil down there," he said. "Fifty years ago there was a fire down this way and I could smell oil burning and see it in the smoke."

Asked if he had lived through many depressions, Bayhi replied, "What's a depression? Ain't never heard tell of one."

He didn't care anything about the bright lights here. "Got all I want right here."

One man said he saw Bayhi at the old plantation thirty years ago. The world has lost its laughter for him and he shuns all men.

He was engaged to a beautiful young woman in years gone by, but before the time for the wedding arrived Bayhi, the young blade, suffered financial reverses and the young lady refused to marry him. He walks around in the wilderness in his stocking feet and sleeps on an improvised bed of blankets and old clothes.

Bayhi remembers little about his former prosperous days. He lives among the huge oaks, the thorny vines and the wilderness beyond Chalmette, trying in vain to wipe out the memories of blasted romance.

BAY HI TIGERS DEFEAT LONG BEACH AS FINAL LIMAX.

By James Hays.

Seven Bay High players brought a beautiful climax to their local grid careers when the Tigers defeated Long Beach 20 to 0, here last Wednesday afternoon.

The game offered little resistance to the powerful Tigers and was much easier than the score indicates.

Early in the initial quarter, after an exchange of punts, Bay Hi advanced the ball to the 20 yard line, where on a following play, David Middleton, captain and halfback, made a spectacular dash over tackle and through the Long Beach team, for a touchdown. A pass from Raymond to Bontemps converted the extra point.

The second score came during the third period when Orest Laurent received the ball on a trick play near mid field, and Hitchcocked 47 yards to cross the goal line.

Long Beach chose to kick-off and Middleton scooped up the ball and brought it thirty five yards. Then Middleton and Loiacano, alternating drove the oval to the three yard stripe, where Loiacano bucked it over. Loiacano made the extra point with a plunge over tackle. This ended the scoring.

Long Beach at all times put up a game fight but at no time threatened to score. Hooker and White played well for the visitors.

Middleton (captain), Ramond, Laurent, Moran, Bontemps, Marquez, and Beeson are the Bay Hi players who will be lost by graduation this year. Loiacano, Ansley and Smith, C. Ladner, Hillis, and T. Scalfide, also played.

Ramond has played on the team four years, Middleton and Laurent four years, Marquez three years, and Bontemps and Beeson two years. These players deserve much credit in bringing about such a successful season and their absence in the future will be keenly felt.

The Bay Hi record follows:

Bay Hi 0, Holy Cross 38.

SOLDIERS, WIDOWS AND OTHERS WILL RECEIVE $648,303 FOR '33

Hancock County With Five Aged Men and Women to Receive $943.50.

Mississippi Civil war veterans, widows and former slaves will receive during 1933 a total of $648,303.75 in pensions.

This amount was fixed by the deputy auditor and pension clerk of the state auditing department following the submission of reports from each county in which the pension clerk made a full and accurate list of those on the pension list.

Hinds county will receive the largest portion of the pension money with $21,633.75 going to 165 dependents. Lee county follows closely with a total of $21,381 needed to aid 141 vets and widows. The neighboring county of Copiah ranks fourth by asking for $20,373.75 to be divided between 131 veterans, widows and slaves. Lauderdale takes third place with 134 soldiers and widows asking for $20,953.

Esquena county, with only two dependents, will receive $207.00, the smallest amount allotted on the budget, while Tunica county, with four vets and widows, is needing only $360. Hancock county has five aged men and women to provide for and is asking $943.50, while Sharkey county, with only four dependents, needs a total of $555.25.

The money will be given out in monthly payments as authorized by the state legislature at their first meeting of the new administration last January. The pensioners are divided into four classes with class one being soldiers and receiving 75c per day. Class one widows receive 75c per day; class two widows are allotted $132 per year, class three widows receive $75 per year, while the last class, servant, are given $30 per year.

COMMENT ON SPORTS BY SHERIDAN

Losers Given Records An Unusual Step Phar Lap's Sister The Packers Lose.

Unprecedented in the history of amateur athletics in this country is the action of the National Amateur Athletic Union in according record recognition to Ralph Metcalfe, of Marquette, and Mrs. Evelyn Hall, of Chicago, although they finished second in the Olympic 100-meter sprint and 80-meter hurdlers, respectively.

It was decided that because these contenders finished the races virtually in dead heats with Eddie Tolan and Miss Mildred (Babe) Didrickson, they should be recognized as co-holders of the American records established.

In both of these races the time of the winner and loser was not one-hundredth of a second apart and only the electric camera could tell the winner. In order to eliminate similar problems in the future the matter of second-place winners in virtual dead heats was referred to the legislative committee for action.

In the case of Ralph Hill, of Oregon, who finished six inches behind Lauri Lehtinen, of Finland, in the 5,000-meter run, a decision denied him equal recognition, although a battery of watches recorded his time as 14:30, the same as that for Lehtinen. This was a new American record but, after approving Hill's feat, the delegates reversed their action, considering it a dangerous precedent to give an athlete, clearly in second place, a joint record with the man who had won.

These questions then arose because watches did not click fast enough to separate the fast-flying runners. Our own idea, not asked for, would be to score the winner in the record time plus, and the second place loser in the record time minus, and put it in the records. Then anybody could understand that the winner was the holder of an exclusive record, which is his or her rightful recognition, and the loser would be down for a shade slower race, but nevertheless so near the record as to be entitled to the time made.

John Hay Whitney who was so impressed with the wonderful performance of Phar Lap, the Australian champion, that he has imported him to take advantage of the blood strains. The mare arrived in New York on November 3 and is now on the Whitney farm in Kentucky. She is not to be used in races, but to breed a line of track performers. Phar Lap, after coming to Mexico from Australia, won a sensational victory in the 1932 Agua Caliente Handicap, setting a new mile and a quarter record for the Mexican

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

(For the Sea Coast Echo)

Will Rogers has gone to work on "State Fair." So has Janet Gaynor.

When Ann Harding finishes "Animal Kingdom," she will make "Christopher Strong," where she plays the part of a famous aviatrix who falls in love with a man considerably older than herself.

"Universal Unknown," the action takes place on a three-masted schooner, erected on one of its inclosed stages and manipulated by hydraulic rams which gives a realistic roll to the deck. A three-foot deep moat surrounds the boat and the water is mechanically thrown over the deck during a "storm."

Paramount is having plenty of trouble with "No Man of Her Own," originally titled "No Bad of Her Own." Clark Gable was borrowed for the picture and Miriam Hopkins was to be starred. The first story was too torrid and a new one was written but the title was barred. Then the actress decided not to appear in the role and the part was changed, but she withdrew again. Carole Lombard has been substituted.

Al Jolson has finished "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum." Madge Evans, Roland Young, Chester Conklin and Harry Langdon are in the cast.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., having finished "Parachute Jumper," will take the role of a prize fighter in "The Sucker." Piffi Dorsay will be the leading woman.

Realism in "Calvacade," included shooting the Armistice Day sequence on the day and hour of the anniversary.

"The Big Cage," by Universal will try to transfer the thrills of the circus ring to the screen and presents Clyde Beatty, putting lions and leopards into, the same cage.

Previews of "A Farewell to Arms" brought protests against the unhappy ending and a new and happier finish will be made and tried out on preview audiences.

George Raft broke into the films when Roland Brown, who wanted a gangster for "Quick Millions," saw him at a cafe one night.

"Heroes for Hire," glorifies the Hollywood stunt men and is in production. It was formerly titled "Lucky Devils."

Walter Huston has signed a contract with MGM.

"Silver Dollar," featuring Edward G. Robinson, with Aline MacMahon and Bebe Daniels in the leading feminine roles, will appear during Christmas week.

Charles Lawton is the "Negro" of Cecil B. de Mille's "The Sign of the Cross." Incidentally, Wilson Barrett, who wrote the play, did so after a long discussion with Robert Ingersoll, in which the two had a great argument on religion.

Paul Muni gives a good performance in "I am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang," showing the value of restraint in a part that might have been spoiled by exaggerated acting.

Warner Baxter will next appear in "Dangerously Yours," with Miriam Jordan as his leading lady.

Joel McCrea and Paul Lukas will support Constance Bennett in "Rock-a-bye," described as a drama of material love.

Ernest Shedsack and Miriam Cooper, the pair who made "Grass," "King Kong," and "Chang" are expected to leave for the Near East on December 1st. The RKO-Radio studio is carefully guarding the nature of their undertaking, hoping to protect the story from other studios.

Wesley Ruggles' contract with RKO has been purchased by Paramount.

Lydia Roberti has been signed for the next Eddie Cantor production; she was in "The Kid from Spain."

Finally, Conrad Nagel, popular master of ceremonies in Hollywood has been elected president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

A football upset of the first magnitude in the professional realm was the recent defeat of the Green Bay Packers by the New York Giants before a crowd of 30,000. The defeat was the first sustained by Curly Lambeau's outfit this year and only the sixth since 1928. For the past three years the Packers have been champions of the National League.

HARRISON COUNTY WANTS TRACT FOR VAST GAME PRESERVE

Fish and Game Commission Asked to Declare Such Territory Immediately.

To further assist in protecting and preserving wild game in the southern portion of Harrison county, the board of supervisors has requested the game and fish commissioner of Mississippi to declare and establish the following territory of the county as a game preserve, and that all game therein be prohibited from being taken or killed, to-wit:

"All that territory in Harrison county, north of the south shore of Harrison county, lying east of Courthouse Road in Mississippi City and south of the south shore of Brick Yard bayou, Bayou Bernard and the Back bay of Biloxi; and all that territory lying south of the north line of section 36, township 7, west of Courthouse Road, and that of the eastern corporate limits of Gulfport, and the municipalities of Gulfport and Long Beach, and all that territory lying south of a line one-half mile north of the right-of-way of the L. & N. railroad between the western limits of the town of Long Beach and the eastern shore of the municipality of Pass Christian."

A large part of the above area has been a game preserve created some years ago under a law empowering boards of supervisors to establish such preserves, but a late law vests this power in the state game commissioner, and to protect the large number of squirrels, quail and other game and singing birds that have found protection in this area, the local supervisors have requested from the game commissioner a continuance of the preserve.
